AMY GRAY ANNOUNCED AS CEO OF CHI ST. JOSEPH HEALTH REHABILITATION HOSPITAL, A PARTNERSHIP WITH HEALTHSOUTH

BRYAN, Texas – Amy Gray has been named chief executive officer of CHI St. Joseph Health Rehabilitation Hospital, a partnership with HealthSouth. She assumed this role on June 13, transitioning from the role of director of therapy for CHI St. Joseph Health.

In her position as CEO of the inpatient rehabilitation hospital, she oversees all of the hospital’s day-to-day operations as well as patient quality and care. Gray brings many years of experience in direct patient care as an occupational therapist combined with more than 15 years of therapy leadership. She earned her bachelor’s degree in occupational therapy from Texas Women’s University.

“ Amy has shown tremendous growth as a leader throughout her career as an occupational therapist, and we are excited to have her knowledge, experience and leadership skills in this role,” said Frank Brown, president of the southwest region for HealthSouth. “I am excited to see the great things Amy and her team will accomplish around patient outcomes and experience at our new hospital.”

CHI St. Joseph Health Rehabilitation Hospital, a 49-bed inpatient rehabilitation hospital, located at 1600 St. Joseph Dr. in Bryan near the CHI St. Joseph Health Regional Hospital campus, offers state-of-the-art technologies and an on-site therapy gym. The hospital is scheduled to open to patients on August 1. The hospital will serve patients who are recovering from conditions such as stroke and other neurological disorders, brain injury, spinal cord injury, amputation, complex orthopedic conditions, and cardiac and pulmonary conditions.
